

THE HOOP SCOOP

CONCORDIA
MEN'S BASKETBALL
1986-87 PROGRAM

IT'S TIME TO CALL FOR THE BLUE.

THE HOOP SCOOP

Although it will be hard to match last season's output the 1986-87 version of the Concordia men's varsity basketball team is nonetheless considered a heavy favorite to partake in the National Championships. From all indications the four team Quebec University Basketball League, which also includes McGill, Bishop's and Université du Québec à Trois-Rivières will be a dogfight right through to the campaign's denouement in March.

The Stinger hoop squad is coming off a season which saw them compile a 22-5 overall record. Broken down categorically Concordia was 11-1 in conference play, 10-1 in tournaments, 1-2 in post-season play and lost their lone exhibition match. Back from that outstanding group of players, coached by 20 year veteran skipper Doug Daigneault, are all-stars Rob Latter and Craig Norman, both entering their final season, and sparkplugs Bobby Verrelli and Parnell Joseph. Filling the void left by the departure of stand-out performers Biagio Caresse and Chris Francis will be highly touted rookies Nick Arvanitis, Keith Alexander and Clint Farley.

Look for Concordia to be a much quicker club this year because of good overall depth and team speed. Freshmen Arvanitis and Alexander enjoyed fine training camps.

Coach Daigneault is once again flanked by his two reliable assistants, John Dore and Harvey Liverman, both former players of his.

McGill Redmen, the defending Quebec champions, will once again be one of the teams to beat. Concordia-McGill games last year featured a lot of intensity. A real rivalry was established and it showed by the large crowds which turned out. Bishop's Gaiters, coached by Eddie Pomykala, will also be a team to be reckoned with. Pomykala has been very aggressive in the area of recruiting and those results should register on the scoreboard. Meanwhile, at Trois-Rivières, coach Claude Laliberté has his troops in fine shape. In addition to recruiting drives at Quebec schools, he has been seen at varsity gymnasiums with pen and pad in hand doing advance scouting for conference play.

HEAD COACH

DOUG DAIGNEAULT

As Concordia Stingers head basketball coach Doug Daigneault heads into his 21st season behind the bench he looks back on the 1985-86 hoop campaign with mixed reactions. There were certainly plenty of positives to reflect upon. He recorded his 400th career victory November 9 when his club beat the powerful York University Yeomen 93-72 at the McGill University Invitational. The Stingers would go on to win the three other tournaments they'd participate in, including their own Tip-Off and London Life Centennial competitions at the Loyola campus and the Toronto National. However, a national title alluded them.

The dean of varsity basketball coaches in Quebec, Daigneault enters this season with 418 career wins under his belt and looking forward to reaching the magic 500 plateau.

Dr. Edmund F. Enos, Director of Fitness, Recreation and Athletics at Concordia, the man who hired Daigneault two decades ago commended his coaching noting "through his assiduous pursuit of excellence, unequivocal loyalty and devotion to his athletes and to the game of basketball, Doug Daigneault has made an immense contribution to the Concordia University community and sport in all of Quebec."

Last season Daigneault's hoop troop compiled an overall record of 22-5 and at one point were ranked number one in the country. The team finished up conference play with an 11-1 mark, and a wild-card berth in the regionals at Lethbridge, where they had to settle for a consolation title.

As always Doug looks ahead to the 1986-87 campaign with the attitude that he will not settle for anything less than a provincial title and a berth in the Canadian Interuniversity Athletic Union (CIAU) championships.

Doug is one of the most respected cage mentors in the country and you need only look at his record to understand why. Over the past 20 years he has amassed 11 league titles. Last year he was named Quebec University Athletic Association men's basketball coach of the year for the sixth time.

Daigneault started his coaching career in Ottawa and came to Loyola College in 1966 as its first full-time basketball instructor. He quickly built the program into one of the strongest in Canada, capturing five conference titles and registering an unprecedented string of 66 consecutive victories in league play. When Loyola and Sir George Williams University merged to form Concordia in 1974 he was chosen to guide the Stingers.

Born in Montreal, Doug grew up in Malone, New York and has been acclaimed one of the finest all-round athletes to ever be produced in the upper New York State region. He earned all-star honors at Franklin Academy in basketball, football and baseball before attending Clemson University. There he received a Bachelor of Science degree and played in the Orange, Blue Bonnett and Sugar Bowl games. Following his graduation, Doug returned to Canada and signed with the Canadian Football League Ottawa Rough Riders, going to the Grey Cup in his rookie year.

He later played for the now defunct Montreal Alouettes and Winnipeg Blue Bombers. A back injury ended his playing career, but turned him in the direction of Loyola where Enos handed the reigns of the basketball team over to him.

When George Dixon surrendered the head coaching duties of the Loyola football club in 1971 Doug was offered and accepted the position in addition to his basketball duties. What was supposed to be only a temporary arrangement lasted seven years until Skip Rochette was brought in to take over the program, allowing Daigneault to devote all of his time to basketball. On the grid he led his teams to a 32-27-2 record and two conference championships.

Doug works year-round on trying to put the best possible team on the court. In addition, he is senior associate director in the Department of Fitness, Recreation & Athletics, directly responsible for men's basketball, football and wrestling.

Not surprisingly, Doug's children are exceptional athletes. Three of his daughters have excelled in swimming. Lois and Debbie attended Clemson and Miami Universities, on scholarships and are now coaches. Julie entered the latter school after returning from the 1984 Los Angeles Summer Olympic Games, where she represented Canada. Doug's two sons, Dean, 16 and Robbie, 14 have been very successful in basketball, football, swimming and rowing in Chateaugay, which the Daigneault's call home.

Internationally speaking Doug assisted national team coach Jack Donahue with the Canadian program four summers ago as preparations began for the Olympics.

Doug's wife, Linda is a great Stinger supporter.

HOOP PERSONNEL

ASSISTANT COACH
JOHN DORE

A native of Queen's, New York, John Dore came to Montreal 15 years ago because of basketball, and he's never left. Now entering his sixth season as Doug Daigneault's chief assistant coach, John was a three-time Quebec University Athletic Association all-star guard while playing for Loyola and then Concordia when the merger with Sir George took place. A good example of someone who mixed scholastics with athletics, he graduated in 1975 with a Science degree in Biology and Physical Education. He found full-time employment almost immediately at Saint George's School in Westmount, where he is now the department head of physical education and athletics. And that's not all. Basketball coaching positions arose as assistant women's varsity coach at Concordia and head coach of the Vanier College men's team. There, he compiled a 35-25 mark, including two playoff appearances, before being lured back to Concordia as one of Daigneault's assistants. His role at St. George's, which is a private elementary and high school, has proven most valuable to the university because he is able to get a close look at some of the better high schoolers as they go through the system. John was once offered a contract to travel with the famous Harlem Globe Trotters and play for the opposing team. He elected to stay here instead, where he now makes his home with wife Malka (a former member of the Loyola Tommies) and daughters Lisa and Lauren. During the summer months John is co-ordinator of the Fast Break Basketball Camp at Bishop's University in Lennoxville.

ASSISTANT COACH
HARVEY LIVERMAN

A former player under Doug Daigneault from 1968 to 1972, Harvey Liverman enters his second season as an assistant coach. The type of player who was always ready to perform when called upon he brings with him the same kind of enthusiasm as a coach. When Andy Mezey announced he would not return to the program two summers ago as one of Daigneault's right hand men on the court Harvey was one of the first people the coach thought of to replace him. The 38 year old Hampstead resident has enjoyed his experience behind the hoopsters' bench. Besides attending all games and practices Harvey is involved in scouting and recruiting for the Stingers to help insure excellence in the years to come. An all-round athlete he always stood out in basketball, averaging 33 points a game for Northmount High School during the four years he spent at the West End institution, gaining most valuable player honors three times. Harvey was also a standout performer for the Snowdon YM-YWHA Blues and the University Settlement Orchids Community Centre. As a youngster he played a lot of baseball. While toiling for the St. Henri Junior squad the slick fielding third baseman was scouted by the Philadelphia Phillies. Harvey and his wife Elaine have two children: daughter Lauren, 11, and son Jamie, 8.

KEITH ALEXANDER

Center

Six-foot-eight, 220 pounds

St. Laurent, Quebec

25/06/64

Freshman, Sociology

Former Team: Dawson College

A member of the 1985-86 Quebec CEGEP champion Dawson College Blues, Keith is being counted on as Concordia's "big man" of the future. He has shown steady improvement since arriving at training camp. Coach Daigneault says "Keith has unlimited potential. But he must dedicate himself totally to the game. If he does that, he'll go very far." Keith is being touted as a potential successor at the center position to Stingers supertar Rob Latter, who is in his final season.

No. 42

NICK ARVANITIS

Forward

Six-foot-five, 205 pounds

St. Laurent, Quebec

14/05/67

Freshman, Finance

Former Team: Vanier College

Big things are expected from Nick, who is filling the giant sneakers at forward vacated last season by Biagio Caresse. A highly recruited player, who started for the Vanier College Cheetahs, under the guidance of coach Keith Coffin, the big St. Laurent native was one of 16 varsity athletes in the province to obtain a scholarship this year from the Foundation for Quebec University Athletics. A very intense competitor, Coach Daigneault feels the 19 year old speedster of the court fits right in to the Concordia system and will be a force to be reckoned with for years to come.

No. 25

MIKE BAKER

Guard

Six foot, 165 pounds

Vankleek Hill, Ontario

10/05/65

Second year, Sociology

Former Team: Vankleek Hill Collegiate

A valuable player coming off the bench Michael always comes to play and has gained plaudits from Coach Daigneault for his tremendous attitude. Arrived in camp this year 10 pounds lighter than last season. Possessor of a great jump shot Mike was attending a basketball camp in Hawkesbury, Ontario in the summer of 1985 when a couple of Stinger players recommended he give Daigneault a call. He did, and in no time at all he was pencilled in to wear the Stinger Maroon, Gold and White. Played in 11 games last season.

No. 40

JACK BERROS

Forward

Six-foot-two, 175 pounds

Montreal, Quebec

25/09/65

Second year, Math

Former Team: Vanier College

Jack joined the team last January and got into 10 games. An all-round athlete he impressed Stinger officials with his good attitude and demonstration of courage. Despite suffering a broken nose he remained active, wearing a cast. A resident of the Côte des Neiges district of Montreal, he starred for Northmount High School and the Sun Youth Organization. "If Jack becomes system oriented he has the potential to become a real fine guard," says Coach Daigneault. Jack is also actively involved with Canada's entry in the Maccabiah Games.

Second year, Economics

Former Team: John Abbott College

Mirco is among a rare breed in Canadian varsity sports: a two sport player. For the second year in a row he is joining the hoopsters following a successful campaign at inside receiver for the football Stingers. The John Abbott College graduate caught a slew of passes this season and now hopes to convert those into baskets. A valuable player for the cagers last winter, he netted 52 points in 14 games played and had 32 rebounds. Mirco is always in excellent shape. Even while the basketball schedule is on he follows a weight training program prescribed by football coach Skip Rochette.

19/08/65

Second year, Management

Former Team: Vanier College

After a year's sabbatical from the game John has returned to the court with a fresh attitude, ready to make a solid contribution to the Stingers basketball program. Coach Daigneault considers his best attributes to be his intensity and hustle. "He should come along with more game experience," says the coach. John has really worked on his physical abilities. Prior to his two years at Vanier, he played for Westmount High School and the Sun Youth Organization. John hopes to complete his degree in management and possibly move on to playing semi-pro ball in Greece.

PETER DIMITROULOPOLOS

Guard

Six-foot-one, 180 pounds

Montreal, Quebec

15/01/67

Second year, Computer Science

Former Team: Panellinios (Greece)

Referred to simply as "Peter D", for obvious reasons, the six foot one Montreal native was a walk-on at training camp last season. He impressed Coach Daigneault with his shooting and jumping ability. He is the first player to ever join the Stinger lineup directly from Greece, where he spent four years toiling for numerous teams in the town of Athens. His team, Panellinios, won the Greek Championship in 1982-83. The coach feels Peter showed steady improvement in his rookie season, in which he got into 23 games. Brought along slowly, he could see a lot of action this season depending upon the team's needs.

No. 32

PARNELL JOSEPH

Guard

Six foot, 165 pounds

Brooklyn, New York

28/02/65

Third year, Math

Former Team: Maisonneuve College

Considered to be the most improved player in the Stinger program. Parnell is a well travelled youngster. Born in Port-Au-Prince, Haiti his family moved to Montreal when he was a youngster. He quickly turned to basketball and was a standout performer at guard for the Maisonneuve College Vikings, the CEGEP located within walking distance of Olympic Stadium. Netted 114 points in his rookie season in 24 games played and put 85 through the hoops last year, in 27 encounters. Parnell, who now resides in Brooklyn, New York when school is out, worked very hard to improve his game last summer, particularly his ball handling.

ROB LATTER

Center

Six-foot-seven, 225 pounds

Montreal, Quebec

23/03/62

Fifth year, English

Former Team: Vanier College

"Rocket Rob" had a spectacular 1985-86 season, his first with the Stingers, playing in 24 games and compiling some amazing statistics. The gentle giant netted 476 points and collected a team leading 318 rebounds. He was good on 190 of 342 field goal attempts and 96 of 165 free throw tries. Rob has seen previous action with the Molson Canadian All-Stars, winners of this year's Pony Tip-Off Tournament at Concordia. He will graduate this year and may rejoin that squad. A big crowd pleaser, he is a real game breaker who many consider to be a franchise player. Coach Daigneault had his eye on him as far back as a decade ago when he toiled for Lower Canada College. Rob was selected to the Quebec University Athletic Association All-Star team last year.

No. 30

CRAIG NORMAN

Guard

Six-foot-five, 205 pounds

Montreal, Quebec

09/07/62

Fifth year, M.A. Education

Former Team: Dawson College

Another so-called franchise player Craig enters his fifth and final season with the Stingers. A Quebec University Athletic Association All-Star last year for the third time he surpassed the 2,000 career point plateau with a whopping 566 points in 27 games. He was good on 238 of 418 field goal tries and 90 of 108 free throw attempts, for an 83 percent average. Craig collected 584 points in his sophomore year. His hoop career nearly ended on a sour note two seasons ago when with four games remaining on the schedule he broke a bone in his foot. That severely hurt the Stingers drive for a playoff spot. Needless to say Coach Daigneault was overwhelmed when Craig informed him of his plans to go for a Masters Degree in Education, which he will complete this spring.

No. 14

BOBBY VERRELLI

Guard

Six-foot-one, 170 pounds

St. Leonard, Quebec

18/02/64

Third year, Exercise Science

Former Team: Champlain College

One of the team leaders, Bobby has really come along the past two seasons. Coach Daigneault has high hopes for the 22 year old St. Leonard native. "If he can match last year's play, plus hit the open shot, he could be one of the best point getters in the country", he insists. The type of player whom you automatically notice out on the court, due to his hustle and desire, Bobby has yet to miss a game in his two Stinger seasons. As a rookie he netted 87 points. Last year he hit the 100 mark. His previous basketball stints were at Holy Names High School and Champlain College in St. Lambert.

No. 50

HUGH WALLACE

Forward

Six-foot-three, 200 pounds

St-Bruno, Quebec

22/11/63

First year, Engineering

Former Team: Champlain College

One of the major surprises at training camp Hugh is built more like a football player than a basketball competitor. A former offensive lineman in his high school days at Richelieu Valley he turned his attention to the court at Champlain College. Plays the game with enthusiasm and toughness. His role will be to come off the bench. Coach Daigneault figures he could be one of the top defensive players on the team. He is dear to the coach's heart because of the fact Daigneault too has excelled in both basketball and football.

TEN YEAR TEAM

The 1984-85 season marked the 10th anniversary of the Concordia varsity sports program. In recognition of this milestone, Concordia's Director of Fitness, Recreation and Athletics, Dr. Edmund F. Enos, has announced all-ten-year teams. Eight accomplished athletes have been named to the men's basketball team, as selected by alumni, present members of the Concordia community and the media.

JOHN DORE — 1975-76 season — John played most of his basketball for the Loyola Warriors but ended his playing career by having an outstanding season with the first ever Concordia Stinger basketball squad. He was a conference all-star, averaged 15 points a game and was one of the best defensive players Concordia ever had. Now, John teaches at St. Georges School and is an assistant coach with the Stingers.

RON PUSKARICH — 1975-76 season — Ron also started playing with the Loyola Warriors and wound up his career with the Stingers. With the Stingers, Ron became the team's leading scorer and was named to the All-Canadian team. Ron lives in Alberta now where he works for the city of Calgary.

JOHN ERLIS — 1975-76 and 1976-77 seasons — John was the third man that made it first the Warriors, then the Stingers a force to reckon with nationally. He was an outstanding point guard and played on the early Stinger teams that competed in the national championship tournaments. John is presently in business in New York.

GARY McKEIGAN — 1979-80 through to 1982-83 — During Gary's four years with the team, the Stingers went to three national tournaments. He was a team captain and all-Canadian center. Gary still plays basketball in Toronto for one of Canada's top teams and he is also a school teacher.

DOUG WHALEY — 1979-80 and 1980-81 seasons — Doug only played with Concordia for two seasons but he made quite an impact. During his career with the Stingers he earned all-Canadian honors and was the team's leading scorer. Doug now lives in New Jersey where he is a businessman.

STEVE MacNEILL — 1979-80 through 1983-84 — Steve played for five years with Concordia and was an exceptional guard but what he really brought to the team was leadership. He, of course, was the team captain. Steve is working for General Foods in Toronto.

BIAGIO CARESSE — 1982-83 through 1985-86 — BJ, as he is known to his friends and teammates at Concordia, has received many honors during his four years with the Stingers. He has been a Quebec all-star many times and was named MVP at the Centennial Basketball tournament but his strength is not scoring even though he does that very well. His greatest contribution to Concordia was his sportsmanship, leadership and inspirational play.

CRAIG NORMAN — 1982-83 to the present. Craig is back for his fifth season as he continues to work on a graduate degree. He has been named to many Quebec and tournament all-star teams. Craig is an outstanding scorer who has led the Stinger squad to countless victories over the years.

HOOP SCHOLAR

Stinger rookie Nick Arvanitis accepts his $1,500 scholarship for the 1986-87 season from Pierre Lortie, president of the board of governors of the Foundation for Quebec University Athletics. The presentation was made at a special gala affair at Queen Elizabeth Hotel.

HOOPSTERS IN ACTION

1985-86 YEAR IN REVIEW

For Concordia Stingers head basketball coach Doug Daigneault, the 1985-86 season was indeed a difficult one to sum up. There were certainly plenty of positives to reflect upon. In this his 19th season as coach, he recorded his 400th career victory November 9th when the Stingers beat the powerful York Yeomen 93-72 at the McGill University Invitational Tournament. Daigneault's troops won the three other tourneys they participated in, including their own Tip-Off and London Life Centennial competitions at the Loyola campus and the Toronto National. The coach's individual victory total now stands at 416.

The hoop Stingers concluded the 1985-86 season with an overall record of 22-5. In conference play they were on their way to a perfect season, winning eleven straight contests. But a back injury to star center Rob Latter didn't help matters as they dropped decisions of 88-70 and 68-66 in the regular season and conference finals respectively. Heading into the former contest the Stingers had surged to number one in the Canadian University rankings.

For Daigneault, losing the Quebec University Athletic Association final was indeed a heartbreaker. Ditto for the entire team. More than 1,000 fans jammed the Loyola campus gymnasium on that March 2 Sunday afternoon, one of many capacity crowds during the 1985-86 campaign. It was a see-saw affair all the day, with neither club being able to build more than a six point lead all game. In the final 37 seconds Concordia had the first opportunity to break a 66-66 tie, but missed. McGill got the ball back and Sandi Ciaccia's field goal was right on the money.

Nonetheless, Concordia gained a wild card berth in a regional tournament at Lethbridge, going up against the host Pronghorns, Victoria and St. Francis Xavier. The Stingers had to settle for the consolation championship, an 83-73 triumph over St. Francis Xavier after losing game one 77-58 to Lethbridge.

Concordia concluded the year ranked number nine by the CIAU.

Daigneault was named QUAA coach of the year while Latter and guards Craig Norman and Biagio Caresse were selected to the conference's first all-star team.

Playing in each of the team's 27 games Norman scored 566 points, 18 less than his career high two seasons ago. The four year veteran, who will return again next year, had a per game average of 21 points and led the club with 238 field goals.

The six-foot eight, 225 pound Latter participated in 24 games and notched 476 points for a per game average of 19.8. He was good on 96 of 165 free throw attempts and pulled in 318 rebounds on both defence and offence.

Caresse, like Norman also in his fourth season, missed only one game. He had 388 points, or 14.9 per game.

In addition to the "big three" Concordia was sparked by second year guard Chris Francis' 335 points and Bobby Verelli's strong two way play. When the season ended Daigneault had 17 men on his roster, all of whom will still have eligibility remaining when the 1986-87 campaign rolls around.

THE SCHENLEY AWARDS

The Monde Selection is among the most coveted awards in the spirits industry. It is recognized as the "symbol of quality" by over 170 countries.

Why? Because only the Monde Selection is awarded according to both the subjective judgement of experts and the objective analysis of scientific tests.

Thus, we're very proud that in the last ten years Schenley has won more Monde Selection Awards than any other distiller in Canada.

We've earned 58 Gold, 19 Silver and 5 Bronze medals.

It's a remarkable record of achievement, confirming that when it comes to fine spirits... Schenley is best.

SCHENLEY O.F.C.
The winner of 12 Gold medals, plus the competition's highest award...the Monde Selection perpetual trophy. Obviously, one of Canada's outstanding 8-year-old whiskies.

TROIKA VODKA
This exceptional vodka has won 7 Gold, 2 Silver and 2 Bronze. Troika has also won the loyalty of Canadians who appreciate a winning bloody mary or screwdriver.

SCHENLEY LONDON DRY GIN
The only dry gin to ever win a Monde Selection Gold medal, not once, but nine times! It's the main ingredient for an award winning martini.

RON CARIOCA WHITE RUM
Winner of 4 gold, 6 Silver and 1 Bronze, and a winner for those who appreciate the refreshing taste of rum made from pure cane spirits imported from the Tropics.
